YACHTS AT GLEN COVE

The Fleet to Start on the Big Cruise This Afternoon.

Unmanageable Sloop Crashes Into the Steamboat Taurus.

Race for the Commodore's Caps in the Sound To-Day.

GLEN COVE, L. I., Aug. 7.—White wings dot the bay as far away as the eye can reach. Yachts, big and little, sloopers, single stickers, steamers and launches flying the pennant of the New York Yacht Club have met for the annual cruise and the races for the Commodore's cup.

Interest in the cruise, and the races were increased by the fact that the Cup defenders were to take part, and in consequence the gathering of yachts was greater than the residents of Glen Cove, Sea Cliff and other towns along the shore of Hempstead Bay ever witnessed. It was the greatest meet in the history of America's greatest club.

The two-score yachts which arrived yesterday and which were anchored in the cove overnight, were reinforced by as many more during the early morning hours.

There was a stiff northeast breeze, which shifted later to northwest. The Commodore's Cup was the center of the May, was the center of the fleet. Just off her bow lay the Vigilant, with the Colonial a couple of boat lengths away.
These two boats were the center of the observation. Their crews were busy all the morning getting ready for the initial trial of their speed.

Near them at anchor were the Dauntless, Ramona, Gloriana, Mayflower, Althea, Athena, Marketer, Elysian, Hildegarde, Queen Mab, Constellation, Ariel, Laska, Alcega, Loyal, Emerald, Yampa, Medusa, Brunhilde, Dagmar, Calliope, Gracie, Gracie, Gracie, Gracie, Gracie, Hedon and a score of others. A dozen steam yachts also lay at anchor with the fleet.

The races today were for the cups offered by Commodore Morgan for sloops and for schooners.

The entries were: Sloops Vigilant, Hildegarde, Queen Mab, Constellation, Ariel, Laska, Alcega, Loyal, Emerald, Yampa, Medusa, Brunhilde, Dagmar, Calliope,
Gracie, Gracie, Gracie, Gracie, Gracie,

the fleet.

What came very near being a serious accident occurred shortly after noon.
The iron steamboat Taurus, which had been chartered for the Club's guests, was making for a good race and an early finish.

What came very near being a serious
accident occurred shortly after noon.
The iron steamboat Taurus, which had
been chartered for the Club's guests,
was making for a good race and an
early finish.

The breeze had by this time freshened up a bit and there was every prospect for a fast race and a finish as early as 2 o'clock.

FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP.

British Yachtsmen Will Try Again in '94 if They Fail This Year.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The Herald's London correspondent states in a cable despatch that it may be stated with safety that, should the Valkyrie not win the America's Cup this year, there will likely be a challenge for it in 1894. The correspondent continues: "The Val-kyrie is a most reliable authority the statement is made that an offer has been made to the sloop Watson for a second race, and the Valkyrie has been given a free hand to get up the fastest yacht that he can."

Kaiser Will Send a New Yacht to Crown in 1894.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—The British correspondent of the Standard writes that the German Emperor will send a new yacht to compete in the Crown Regatta in 1894, as the latest improvements cannot be applied to the Meteor.

Hospital at an early hour this morning of typhoid fever, which he contracted last week. He was was being treated by Dr. J. M. Smith.

MESSENGER BOYS STRIKE.

A compromise is effected and they return to work.

The cause of the strike was that instead of being paid every week they are to be paid every two weeks. They were to be paid last week, but the money was not sent, and they went on strike. The boys say it is not the two weeks, but the fact that they are not being paid at all.

"STOLEN DOCUMENT" FORGERS.

Ducrot and Norton Found Guilty and Sentenced in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The jury in the case of Ducrot and Norton returned today a verdict of guilty against both of the defendants.
Norton, who is a milaite, was indicted for forging the documents found in the Chamber of Deputies by M. Millereux, a Socialist member, and which it was claimed had been stolen from the British Embassy in Paris during the absence of Lord Dufferin, the British Ambassador, purporting to show that certain Frenchmen high in official life had sold State secrets to the British Government, their alleged acts, if true, constituting treason.

M. Ducrot, who is the editor of the Boileauist organ, the Oeuvre, was charged with complicity in the forgery.

The court sentenced Norton to three years' imprisonment and Ducrot to one year.

BURGLAR BRADLEY HAS NERVE.

Climbs Up a Lead Pipe to Get Into a House.

Joseph Bradley was held for examination in the Jefferson Market Police Court today on the charge of burglary. Bradley, who is said to be of about twenty years, is a thief with a good deal of nerve.

The boy lived at 540 West Fifty-first street, and at 1 o'clock last night he climbed up a lead pipe leading to the apartments of Anne Cline on the second floor of West Fifty-first street.

He was asleep at the time Bradley climbed up the pipe and started to leave, when Mrs. Cline awoke and, finding the strange noise in her room, began to scream.
Bradley dropped the pipe and ran for the window, but the woman jumped out and climbed him by the neck, still screaming.

Nelsons came to her assistance, and in a few minutes Policeman Peppercorn, of the West Fifty-seventh street station, arrived, and took Bradley under arrest.

His mother, who did the same trick, was also taken into custody.

TILDEN'S NEPHEWS IN COURT.

Motion to Set Aside a Judgment Against Them for $80,165.

A motion was made before Justice O'Brien in Supreme Court chambers today to set aside the judgment of the court in the case of Alfred Meyer, of West Troy, N. Y., against Samuel J. Tilden and George Tilden, nephews of the late Samuel J. Tilden. The amount involved is $80,165.

Between the years 1880 Samuel J. and George H. Tilden carried on business in New York and Columbia counties. The name of the firm was Tilden & Son. The firm was dissolved in 1880.

Just before Justice O'Brien rendered judgment for the amount of $80,165, the Tildens, Samuel J. and George H., had the case reopened and asked the court to set aside the judgment and that nearly all of the money was returned by George H. Tilden.

TRIED TO FORCE A WATCH SALE.

Ward and His Pals Substituted a Brass for a Gold One.

A man describing himself as Hugh Ward, aged twenty-six, who had been tried for trial by Justice Meade in the Tombs Court this morning on a charge of petty larceny.

Ward and two other men met Wilfred May, aged twenty-four, of 2,225 First avenue, on the ground street station of the Third Avenue line, and tried to force him to sell him a gold watch. They said the watch was worth $25 and they would give him $10 for it.

May jumped at the offer, but the man substituted a brass watch and he would not take it. The man then tried to force May to sell him a watch, but he would not.

MRS. MEYER SAYS NOT GUILTY.

The Alleged Poisoner's Wife Arraigned for Pleading.

Lawyers Wrangle as to Her Place of Detention.

Mrs. Meyer, the reputed wife and alleged accomplice of Dr. Henry C.
F. Meyer in the wholesale poisonings charged against him, was brought down from the Mercer street police station today to the District-Attorney's office, and thence to Part I of the Court of General Sessions to stand trial for the incident in which she is charged with her husband, with the murder of Ludwig Arnold, otherwise known as Gustav Baum.

The woman and her infant children, Arthur, six months old, and the baby born in Harper Hospital, Detroit, three weeks ago, were placed in a carriage by Detective Sergeant Von Gerichten and Trainer.

Mrs. Meyer was not locked in a cell at the House of Detention yesterday, but was permitted the freedom of the corridors under the eye of the matron.
She was provided with a locking chair, and sat just outside her cell all day, with her baby in her lap.

She was locked up in the cell during the night.

She ate but little, and was at times almost hysterical. She never once betrayed the great secret which she harbored in her bosom.

Charles W. Brooke, chief of counsel, for the woman, of her counsel, had a long interview with her, and he declared this morning that she was on the verge of mental and physical collapse.

Charles W. Brooke, chief of counsel,
for the woman, of her counsel,
had a long interview with her, and he
the verge of mental and physical collapse.

Mrs. Meyer followed, with her baby in her arms, by Detective Sergeant Trainer. She wore the same blue calico waist and blue serge skirt that she had worn at the trial. She did not look like the woman who had been described as a "poisoner."

The woman was taken into the detective's little room back of the District Attorney's office. Mr. Meyer was detained here to talk, which incident seemed hardly necessary, as he is an absolutely sane man.

When Dr. Glimmer arrived from Rockwell Hospital, the doctor said that
Mrs. Meyer was in a very bad way.
He said that she was in a very bad way.

tured His Skull.

of Mrs. and Ida Bear, had a terrible fall this morning from the top floor of the house in which he lives, at 21 Moore street.
Mrs. Bear was playing about on the floor about 10 o'clock when the child entered his little bed to climb up to the window. His mother was not looking, and when she glanced at the window, she saw the child hanging from the top of the bedstead.

ment has refused officially to recognize the

KILLED ON THE "L."

Supervisor Berthold Spangenberg
Meets a Horrible Death.

Struck at the Curve at Sixth Avenue and Fifty-third Street.

Stepped Out of the Way of One Train to Be Crushed by Another.

Berthold Spangenberg, Supervisor of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Road, was killed this morning on the Fifty-third street curve. His body was horribly mangled, and his brain was forced over the structure for several feet.

Spangenberg was one of the most popular officials of the road, and had been in the Company's employ over twenty years.

For several years past he was foreman of one of the uptown sections.
About six weeks ago he was appointed Supervisor of the whole line, taking the position held for many years by Thomas Lilly.

He only returned from his vacation about two weeks ago. Spangenberg was married, but had no children. He lived at 264 East 104th street.

The morning he came downtown as usual. He left the train at Fifty-third street and walked down to the curve at Sixth avenue.

A gang of men are at work at that point, preparing the track for several hundred feet of new rails.

About 8:30 Spangenberg was standing on the platform of the Fifty-third street station, looking towards the North River when a south-bound train was coming from the Fifty-third street station. Spangenberg moved what he evidently considered a sufficient distance to be out of the way.

A portion of the train swept by him.
Just at that moment a north-bound train whizzed out of Sixth avenue towards the curve. Spangenberg turned his head to gauge his position for the result, and the train struck him on the head, and he was hurled into the air.

When Dr. Glimmer arrived from Rock-
well Hospital, the doctor said that
Mrs. Meyer was in a very bad way.

House Debate Proposed Without

Awaiting Committee Reports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The Fifty-third Congress, called together in special session by President Cleveland, met at the National Capitol at noon today.

The day brought with it a most welcome and refreshing change in the weather. Cool breezes replaced the torrid heat of the previous week, and supplemented by the improved ventilation fans, made the temperature of the House and Senate chambers tolerably endurable, notwithstanding the crowds of spectators who, as usual, packed the galleries and thronged the corridors.

Among the latter there were many European tourists.

The Senate Chamber was in its midsummer session, the doors being laid with matting. Half a dozen of the desks of Senators on the Democratic
